

CMPS

Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies

Hybrid Presentation (In-Person and Zoom)

Cosponsored by The Boston Graduate School of Psychoanalysis

Between Remembering and Forgetting: Reckoning with Racialized Transmissions

The backdrop for this presentation is the recent upsurge in racial violence, such as the murder of George Floyd, that underscores the enduring destructiveness of racism and white supremacy in the US. Salberg argues that we are currently witnessing a return of transgenerationally transmitted, inherited racial hatred that had been repressed, denied, and refused. The challenge for psychoanalysis is to consider how our theories and praxis keep in place whiteness as the unmarked category, a standard benefitting itself that causes the legacy of embedded racism to continue to be reproduced. Transgenerational transmission of racial trauma and the rupturing of attachments are examined personally and in a clinical case with a white patient.

2 CE Credits for Psychoanalysts, Psychologists,
Social Workers, and Mental Health Counselors*

CE Credits for MHCs Provided by BGSP*

SATURDAY, JANUARY 27, 2024 • 1:00 – 3:00 PM (Eastern)

PRACTITIONERS AND GENERAL PUBLIC: $40

BGSP/NYGSP/CMPS FACULTY AND STAFF: $25 | STUDENTS: FREE

Jill Salberg, PhD, is a faculty member and supervisor at the NYU Postdoctoral Program, the Stephen Mitchell Center, and ICP, and a member of IPTAR. She is the editor of and contributor to Good Enough Endings: Breaks, Interruptions, and Terminations from Contemporary Relational Perspectives (2010) and Psychoanalytic Credos: Personal and Professional Journeys of Psychoanalysts (2022). She coauthored, with Sue Grand, Transgenerational Trauma: A Contemporary Introduction (Routledge, forthcoming). She conceived of and coedited a book series, Psyche and Soul: Psychoanalysis, Spirituality, and Religion in Dialogue (Routledge). She is in practice in Manhattan.

CONTINUING EDUCATION INFORMATION

LEARNING OBJECTIVES: Participants will be able to (1) identify aspects of transgenerationally transmitted racism for white-identified persons and persons of color, (2) describe how to work with white dissociative denial, both within themselves and in their patients, and (3) describe how racism ruptures attachment and how to repair these ruptures.

Psychoanalysts: The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Mental Health Practitioners as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed psychoanalysts (#P-0032).

Psychologists: The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Psychology as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed psychologists (#PSY-0163).

Social Workers: The Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies is recognized by the New York State Education Department's State Board for Social Work as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed social workers (#SW-0206).

Mental Health Counselors: The Boston Graduate School of Psychoanalysis is recognized by the National Board for Certified Counselors as an approved provider of continuing education for licensed mental health counselors (ACEP No. 5676).