Center for Modern Psychoanalytic Studies

Workshop via Zoom

Clinical Writing – Expanding the Parameters

In this workshop participants will learn to write richer, more accessible and creative clinical narratives, including vignettes, case studies, and clinical papers. We will explore how clinical writing can more faithfully capture the depth and breadth of the emotional life of psychoanalytic treatments. An important aim will be to open our writing up to not only the subjectivity of the patient but also that of the psychoanalyst or psychotherapist as both unfold in the clinical process. Through writing exercises participants will craft their own clinical narratives, with a focus on expanding the parameters of traditional clinical writing.
